TEN YEARS OF

HENEY PLACED IN QUEER POSITION

Received $23,000 from Government for Which He Performed No Service Whatever.

SO SAYS CHAIRMAN TAWNEY.

Further Declares That as Matter of Fact He Has Performed No Active Service for Last Three Years.

washington, July 19 .- That Francis J. Hency, special counsel of the department of justice and also assistant prosecutor in tra so-called graft cases in San Francisco, received from the government last year $23,000 for which he performed no service, was the frank admission of Chairman Tawney of the appropriations committee in the house

"How much did Heney receive during the year 1908?" demanded Mr. Murphy (Dem., Mo,), "and what service did he perform?"

"He received $23,000 and performed no service for the government whatever during that year," answered Mr.

no service for the government whatever during that year," answered Mr. Tawney.

Subsequently Mr. Tawney said:

"As a matter of fact, Mr. Heney has never performed any active service for the last three years. He was appointed Nov. 7, 1908, and his active service continued for about three years, and for which he received in all $59,000."

Mr. Tawney stated, however, that Mr. Heney's salary had nothing to do with the $27,000 deficiency of the department of justice for which provision is made in the urgent deficiency bill. Mr. Heney, he said, had received in all from the government $69,000. Asked by Mr. Cox (Ind.) if any of this deficiency was due to the employment of special counsel to prosecute any trust, Mr. Tawney, answering in the affirmative, said that the suit against the tobacco trust had occasioned some of it, Mr. Bennet (N. Y.) added that the prosecution of the turpentine trust also was responsible for part of it, Mr. Clark (Mo.) denounced the appointment of incompetent district attorneys, necessitating, as he said, the employment of special counsel. The practise had grown into a fad, he said, and a very expensive fad. He declared if there had been a competent district attorney or two in the west there would not have been so much stealing of public lands.

Mr. Mann (Ill.) said Mr. Heney needed no defense. "The only people torney or two in the west there would not have been so much stealing of public lands.

Mr. Mann (III.) said Mr. Heney needed no defense. "The only people opposed to him," he remarked, "are those who sympathize with some of those who have been accused, if not convicted, of graft."

Mr. Burke (Pa.) called the Illinoisant to order, saying that Mr. Mann's admission that Mr. Heney needed no defense did dispose of the necessity of consuming the house's time.

"I am glad," said Mr. Mann, "that only one member, and he from the great and pure state of Pinnsylvania, is opposed to Mr. Heney." Fearful that Mr. Heney would get a further allowance, Mr. Fitzgerald offered an amendment prohibiting it.

Smarting under Mr. Mann's sarcastic reference to Pennsylvania as a "great and pure state," Mr. Burke charged that he had been placed in the position of denouncing a competent and earnest public officer. He had objected, he said, because Mr. Mann was abusing the provisions and power of the house. The suggestion of Mr. Mann be charged as gratuitous. "But I want to say," he remarked, with some warmth, "that when the great and pure state of Pennsylvania wishes to have its politics or its moral tone improved it will not go to the gentleman of Illinois, or the city of Chicago, from which the gentleman hails." Far back in the chamber of Mr. Moore (Penn.) was trying to attract the attention of Mr. Burke. When he succeeded he propounded a series of quesions, which moved the house of laughter.

"Do you not," asked Mr. Moore, "regard as hilphly complimentary the reference to Pennsylvania?"

"I do," emphatically replied Mr. Burke.

"Do you deny that Pennsylvania is a great and pure state?" Mr. Moore reference to Peinsylvania.

"I do," emphatically replied Mr.
Buřke.

"Do you deny that Pennsylvania is a great and pure štate?" Mr. Moore inquired.

"I do not," responded Mr. Burke.

The Fitzgerald resolution was voted down, as was one by Mr. Cullop (Ind.) prohibiting the payment of any part of the deficiency appropriation to the special counsel to assist in prosecuting Delavan Smith of the Indianapolis News, or Joseph Pulitzer of the New

HALT LEGISLATION

Several Members Indulge in Very Bitter, Unseemly and Recriminating Controversy.

AT TIMES COLLOQUY VULGAR

Macon of Arkansas Said if Rucker of Colorado Would Substantiate His Statements, He Would Resign.

Washington, July 19.-Legislation was halted in the house today while several of the members indulged in a series of personalties, which assumed such proportions that Mr. Macon (Ark.) announced his willingness to resign if the statements affecting him were proven. The controversy was between Mr. Mncon, Mr. Rucker of Colorado, and Mr. Mann of Ilinois. Mr. Rucker, after stating that he had voted for the appropriation of $25,000 to pay for the appropriation of $25,000 to pay the traveling expenses of the president, entered upon the discussion of a provision granting money for the board of children's guardians and thus fell into a colloquy with Mr. Mann, during which the latter said that this money was useld for the most part in sending office-seekers home. Mr. Rucker remarked that Mr. Mann could have Colorado's share of such an appropriation. Mr. Mann declared he had sent back more stranded people to Colorado than to Chicago. Mr. Rucker had said that Mr. Macon of Arkansas reminded him of a fellow who had applied at a Colorado ranch for food and raiment and had got both, but after remaining a Colorado ranch for food and raiment and had got both, but after remaining there for only 30 days, it was found he could only say "Whoa." "The gentleman from Colorado," be-gan Macon, "has attempted to relieve some of the gas on his stomach by telling an old yarn here that he applies to myself."

telling an old yarn here that he applies to myself."

Mr. Macon declared the gas on his stomach never had been so disagreeable that he had felt called upon to reflect upon the action of any member, in order to exploit the fact that he had cast a vote in a certain way, after the newspapers had ignored him.

"You will observe," he said, angrily, "that these cynical people, when they are ignored by the newspaper reporters, come to the floor of the house and call attention to what they have done."

and call attention to what they have done."

Mr. Rucker said Mr. Mann was wrong in his conclusions, while Mr. Macon was right. Mr. Macon, he said, had proclaimed himself from day to day as the "watchdog of the treasury."

"But," he added, "he has cost more money by the delays he has occasioned by his objecting moods than all the other members. I don't know how the gentleman recognized himself when I gave the description of a man who appeared upon my ranch and asked for food and raiment. If a correct measurement was made according to the gentleman's own measure of his standing, he would be about six feet five."

The Republicans shouted with laughter, which was turned into applause, when Mr. Macon arose. He did not, he said, purpose to bandy words with Mr. Rucker, "for I do not consider that he is worthy." He charlenged Mr. Rucker of substantiate his statements, in which event he declared that he would resign his seat. A chorus of groans and expostulations of "Oh,oh!" "Oh, no," closed the incident.

WHEAT HELD BY FARMERS MARCH 1

Washington, July 19.-In answer the criticisms against the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture because of the alleged inaccuracy of its report on March 8, last, on the amount of wheat on farms, a statement was issued today by the statement was issued today by the bureau defending its estimate. The bureau estimated that there were about 144,000,000 bushels of wheat on farms March 1, 1909. This was challenged as being much too large. The statement says:

"In considering this question, account must be taken of the apparent supply and distribution of wheat dur-ing the four months from March I to ing the four months from March 1 to July 1, 1909.

"Assuming that about 40,000,000 bushels per month were consumed, exclusive of seed, the apparent supply and distribution of wheat during the four months from March 1, to July 1, 1909, was as follows:

"Domestic consumption, four months, estimated, 160,000,000 bushels.

"Snring wheat seed requirements.

"Spring whot seed requirements, estimate, 25,000,000 bushels.
"Exports, including flour, 16,000,000

Commercial stock July 1, 1909, including flour, 28,000,000 bushels.
"Farm stocks, July 1, 1909, estimatd. 15,000,000 bushels.

"Tarm stocks, July 1, 1009, estimate ed, 15,000,000 bushels.
"Total supply and distribution four months (quantity in United States on March 1, 1909, 244,000,000 bushels.
"Of these, about 74,000,000 bushels are accounted for by an accepted commercial statement of reported stocks in second hands (mills and elevators), including the wheat equivalent of flour oin March 1, 1909. The remainder must have been on farms and in unreported stocks in second hands on the date named. The estimate of wheat on farms on March 1 (about 144,000,000 bushels) would leave about 26,000,000 bushels as the unreported amount in second hands on that date. second hands on that date.

second hands on that date.

"But this is more than the amount estimated as having been so held, such amount being approximated as 20 per cent of the total quantity, reported and unreported, then in second hands. Twenty per cent of the total stocks would have been about 18,000,000 bushels unreported which indicated that the quantity of wheat on farms on March 1, 1909, was more likely to have been underestimated than overestimated by the bureau of statistics."

The statement, which has the approval of Secy. Wilson, says the widely published attack on the estimate ly published attack on the estimate was inspired solely by the desire of speculators to gain personal financial profits at the expense of the general public.

PELLAGRA ONE OF MOST MYSTEROIUS DISEASES

Chicago, July 20.—Pellagra, a mysterious plague as fatal as leprosy and usually found only in the southern states and in tropical countries, has been discovered among inmates of the insane wards at the Dunning asylum.

Three middle-aged women are now suffering with the dread malady, and six other women have succumbed to the disease within the past year. At the time of their death Dunning physiciator were mystided as to the rature of their allments.

A suspicion that pellagra was the af-their ailments.

A suspicion that pellagra was the affiction of the women was confirmed yesterday by Dr. C. H. Lavinder, a surgeon of the United States public health and marine hospital service, who for the last two years has been making an exhaustive study of the baf-fling disease at a laboratory at Columbia, S. C.

"Most authorities attribute the disease to the use as food spoiled or damaged corn or its products. But no one is able to state that corn in a certain condition will cause the disease, nor can anyone guard against it.

"Pellagra eats out the body and mind, but is a chronic disease and not acute, and usually when insanity is caused, the patient is depressed and moody rather than violent.

"The disease is not considered communicable and no effort is made anywhere, either in Europe or in the United States, to quarantine the cases."

"It is a great pleasure for me and I consider it a duty to inform you what Cuticura has done for me. About twelve years ago, I contracted an eruption of the scale care it and pimples, about the size of a pinhead, which filled after a few days with pus and which hurt tremendously. I tried everything, but in vain. Finally, I washed my head with suphar and applied a carbolic ointment. After r/few days the pimples disappeared, ordy to come back again in a weak. This I suffered for trn years and they I saw an advertisement in the paper of the wonderful cures by Cuticura. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a borr of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Pills and after three weeks I had used only half the Soap and Ointment and my head was as clean as ever before. After the first application it was simply surprising how it improved.

"18-5" daughter used Cuticura Soap; and Ointment for scales on the scalp and after having used them three times her head was clear and the hair became its soft and fine as silk. Since then she uses nothing but Cuticura Soap for shampooing.

A Great Serial of the Air The conquest of the air and the invention of a practical aeroplane are yet in the future, but many believe that we are on the threshold of these events. Chester's Business Stories Stories by George Randolph Chester are practical and deeply absorbing tales of business methods. Henry Watterson on Lincoln February 12, 1909, is the centenary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. It has been said that more has been written about this majestic, somberly pathetic figure than about any other man except Christ. The place of Lincoln in history is fixed for all time, and whatever may be written in the future can add little or nothing to the sublimity of his life and his achievements.

Colonel Henry Watterson, who, perhaps better than any other, can write sympathetically of the work and life of the martyred President, will contribute an appreciation of Lincoln to the March number of the Cosmopolitan.

Edwin Lefevre on Wall Street There is no writer that understands Wall Street as Edwin Lefevre understands it. Mr. Lefevre, like the Admirable Crichton, has "played the game." He knows every angle of it. Mr. Lefevre will contribute to the magazine in the course of the year a series of articles dealing with financiers and Wall Street methods. He will show how the game can be and is constantly being beaten.

Depew's Reminiscences

What names, what majestic figures, what great events, are visualized in the camera-like mind of Chauncey M. Depew! The tales of these men, the moving recital of these great events, will be told in the Cosmopolitan with all the anecdotal fillip and the comprehensive and telling effect of this master orator and raconteur.
